Several hundred people listen as NASA holds public meeting on ASRM

Facts, fears aired on ASRM

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
NASA representatives fielded questions by residents concerned about proposed Advanced Solid Rocket Motor Testing (ASRM) at Stennis Space Center at the Hancock County Civic Center Tuesday evening, Aug. 28.

As the public meeting began, NASA's Lon Miller, ASRM Project Manager, gave an overview of the program.

Stennis Operations Director Jack Rogers spoke on the preparation of the Supplemental Final Environmental Impact Statement (SFEIS) noting how NASA has to go through the same process as private industry in obtaining permits.

Environmental Projects Officer Dr. Rebecca McCaleb addressed the results of the SFEIS and addressed questions from the audience.

Early on, Citizens for a Healthy Environment spokesman D.C. Harvill grabbed front stage and told Rogers, "I don't want you to answer, I just want to make my comments."

An unidentified man, far back in the audience called out to Harvill, "Why do you have so

Labor Day telethon slated in Waveland

BY TRACI BONNEY

It may be loose change, but every little bit helps.

Donations to the Muscular Dystrophy Association continue to trickle in as the local MDA chapter gears up for the association's annual Labor Day telethon.

Local MDA coordinator Louie Smolensky said he hasn't tallied up the contributions made so far, but people continue to donate pennies, nickels, dimes, quarters and dollars.

"It's been looking good so far," he said. "Our goal this year is $20,000. Our volunteers have been putting out cans at stores, working car washes, and doing other things like that for six months. If we can just work one more weekend, we'll hit the goal."

"Everyone has worked real hard; the stores, the fire departments, all the volunteers. I'm thankful for all the work that's been done."

Smolensky stressed that money raised in the local area stays in the area and benefits those served by the Hancock West Harrison chapter.

This year's telethon marks the 25th anniversary of MDA's 20-hour fundraiser.

Smolensky said it will broadcast from 10 p.m. Sunday, Sept. 2, to 6 p.m. Monday, Sept. 3, on Fox stations 25 and 38, and will originate not from Las Vegas but from Hollywood.

The local telethon pledge center will be based at Charlie Henderson Ford and will be open from 6 p.m. Sunday to 6 p.m. Monday. The numbers to call will be 467-9005 and 467-9006.

"I want to urge everyone to call in their pledges," Smolensky said.

Bay's own Henry Cook leaves to prepare for Middle East conflict

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

He is attorney Henry J. Cook III, but during times of need he is Colonel Cook of the Green Berets, the special operations force of the United States Army.

Friday, August 24 attorney Cook received a phone call to report to the United States Special Operations Command at McDill Air Base in Tampa, Florida. He is to leave today.

Upon arrival in Florida, Col. Cook will become part of a presidential call-up. Cook explained that the president can mobilize up to 200,000 men for six months.

Cook said, "We are finally recognizing the purpose of having an army is to prepare for war, and that's what we are doing."

Col. Cook is familiar with the horrors of war, having served two and a half tours during Vietnam.

"I think it's very important that the rest of the world will come to realize that we have a capable military that has the resolve of the people behind them," said Cook, "which is the one ingredient that was missing in Vietnam."

Cook leaves behind his seven-year-old son, Stephen, his two-year-old daughter, Collette Marie, and his wife, Ginger, who is expecting their third child in March.

"I have mixed emotions," said Cook. "This is disruptive to my personal life and is a tremendous sacrifice by my family."

Attorney Cook was busy in his office on Court Street Tuesday. He had many last-minute calls to make concerning unfinished business with his law practice.

He was hurriedly contacting friends for a farewell get-together at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club Wednesday night.

A large back pack, protruding with canteens and things, sat alone upon the little porch of his office, waiting for one of America's best to resume the role of defender of the land.

Ammo plant shutdown continues

BY TRACI BONNEY

Even though no more ammunition is made, work continues for the approximately 560 workers still at the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant, according to Lt. Col. Harry Sawyer.

until recently, when all contracts were fulfilled.

Where employees once produced shells for military weapons, those workers still at the plant now spend their days storing equipment, parts and furniture. While some move larger items, others clean small pieces of machinery and dip them in a wax coating to prevent rust and corrosion while the parts sit on shelves.

"We've stopped production, but we're going on with the lay-away process," he said Monday. "Layaway will take about 20

Election set for three county slots

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

In addition to selecting a United States Congressman, Hancock County residents will elect a coroner countywide and a District Five School Board member and Election Commissioner.

The deadline is 5 p.m. on September 7 for candidates to qualify for the three Hancock positions, according to Pam Metzler, Hancock County Circuit Clerk.

This is a regularly scheduled District Five School Board election. Lynette Nacaise is the incumbent.

Persons seeking one of the three positions must have a petition signed by at least 50 qualified electors of the respective district, Metzler said.

Petition forms and qualifying applications can be obtained from the office of the circuit clerk at the Hancock County Courthouse Monday through Friday from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Norma Stiglet, interim coroner, and Betty Breaux, interim District Five Election Commissioner, were both appointed by the Hancock County Board of Supervisors after the death of their husbands.

Incumbent Gene Taylor, Democrat, faces challenger Sheila Smith, Republican, for the U.S. Fifth District Congressional seat. Taylor was elected to fill the unexpired term of the late Larkin Smith, husband of Sheila Smith.

There will also be several State Constitutional Amendments on the November 6 ballots.

Voter registration urged, special hours offered in Sept., Oct.

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

With November elections approaching, Hancock County Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler is encouraging the registration of unregistered residents.

The clerk's office will offer special hours as residents have until Friday, October 5, 7 p.m. to register in order to vote in the November 6 election.

Extended hours will be offered the last week before the deadline for registrations.

Metzler stated, "Registration can be made during the regular office hours and we are adding Saturday, Sept. 29, 8 a.m. to noon and also from 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. Oct. 1 through Oct. 5 in order to give citizens who work late an opportunity to register to vote."

The office's regular hours are from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday.

In order to be a qualified elector and register, a person must be 18 years of age or older, a United States citizen, have resided in the county 30 days or more and have never been convicted of a crime in Section 241 of the Mississippi State Constitution.

Card of Thanks

I recently was released from Hancock Medical Center after having spent 18 days in this small yet adequately equipped, caring and well-staffed hospital.

The doctors, nurses, and most particularly the ICU, performed beyond the necessary. They became instruments of healing and love.

I would like to thank the administration of Hancock Medical Center for the spirit-filled nurses, expert doctors and well-trained staff that ministered to my needs in such a professional manner.

I was surrounded with loving, caring and expert people. This is how I was healed—they and the Lord brought me back to life.

I urge people of Hancock County to support our local facility. The more we support it, the better the institution can become.

Sincerely,
 Gregory L. Pfeiffer

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank all of the many friends for their prayers, their condolences and their help which was so unselfishly given at the death of my daughter, Thelma H. Nunez.

I will be forever grateful.

Taking a bite out of crime

Hancock law officers arrest 11 on drug charges

BY TRACI BONNEY

Local law enforcement officials took a bite out of drug-related crime earlier this week by arresting 12 people on 27 charges, according to Glen Strong, director of the Hancock County Metro Narcotics Task Force.

Strong said the arrests resulted from two months of undercover purchases from alleged drug dealers. In addition to the arrests, seizures were made of 12 bags of marijuana and various drug paraphernalia in one execution of a search warrant and another one-fourth of a pound of marijuana, 17 doses of LSD, a Lincoln Continental and more paraphernalia in other search warrant executions.

Eleven of the arrests were made over the weekend and one was made late Tuesday afternoon.

Charges ranged from sale of marijuana and LSD to possession with intent to distribute those substances, Strong added.

He said, "To our knowledge, LSD is just starting to get popular among the young crowd. It was Ecstasy that was big five or six months ago. Now it seems like LSD is taking over."

He added that he expects the grand jury to hand down several indictments on charges of conspiracy to sell LSD after ruling on the current arrests.

Arrested were:

Leo Schwartz, 26, Rt. 6 Box 700, Tigris St., Shoreline Park — four counts sale of marijuana less than an ounce, one count sale of marijuana more than an ounce, one count sale of LSD (45 doses), one count possession of marijuana with intent to distribute;

James Arnold Schwartz, 24, Rt. 6 Box 700 — two counts sale of marijuana less than an ounce, one count sale of LSD (45 doses) and resisting arrest;

Dawn Keeler, 20, 419 Wainwright St., Waveland — one count sale of LSD (two doses) and one count sale of marijuana less than an ounce;

James David Cooley, 28, Rt. 4, Box 10007, Chapman Rd., Bay St. Louis — two counts sale of marijuana less than an ounce and two counts sale of marijuana more than an ounce;

Sammy Wayne Tyler, 23, 514 Commagere Blvd., Bay St. Louis — one count sale of LSD (two doses);

Amy A. Rester, 22, 2280 Pass Road, Biloxi — two counts sale of LSD (100 doses each count);

Michelle D. Christwell, 23, 198 Paradise Ave., Apt. D, Gulfport — one count sale of LSD (100 doses);

Amedeo Giacona, 47; Stephen Anthony Giacona, 27; Carla D. Giacona, 25, all of 304 Louisa St., Waveland — one count each possession of marijuana with intent to distribute;

Troy A. Snaveley, 22, 198 Paradise Ave., Gulfport — one count possession of marijuana with intent to distribute.

Strong said Stephen Giacona remains incarcerated at the Hancock County jail on $10,000 bond, and James Schwartz is incarcerated without bond because of a parole violation. The others arrested were released on bond.

Bonds were set at $2,500 for each charge of sale of marijuana less than an ounce, and $5,000 each for all other felony charges.

Task force officers who participated in the investigation were Strong, James Varnell and Gus Aime. The task force was assisted by Waveland and Bay St. Louis police officers and Hancock County Sheriff's Department officials, as well as special agents Bill Pepperman and Roland Flowers.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

High school football gets into full swing this Friday night when all local teams see action.

This week's action will begin to tell the story of which team will come out on top by the end of the season.

I realize it seems to be rather hot for high school football games to begin, but it is that time of the year.

The high flying Hawks of Hancock North Central will journey to tangle with the Warriors of d'Iberville.

Head coach Irvin Favre of the Hawks should once again have a very good squad, and d'Iberville would like to put a blemish on their record right from the start.

In recent years, the Warriors haven't had the powerful teams of several years ago and would like to catch the Hawks napping and trip them up.

Bay High's Tigers with a new coach and a well organized booster club will be out to show they are better than their records of recent seasons.

New head coach Rocky Gaudin's Tigers should be ready to host Pearl River, La. in Bay St. Louis Friday.

Pearl River will give the Tigers a big test, and the outcome of that game may indicate what can be expected from Bay High this season.

The Rock-A-Chaws of St. Stanislaus will cross the bridge to do battle with the Pirates of Pass Christian.

Stanislaus head coach Ken Lyons has a large number of players to select from this season and should give the Pirates a good test.

The Rocks have had some good recent seasons and would like to continue their winning ways.

Pass Christian finished a lot better last season than the previous year, and head coach Joseph Brown would like to improve last year's record.

The game between Stanislaus and the Pirates should be a good one too.

Although they were originally scheduled to be away this week, the Coast Episcopal High Raiders will be at home in a game against Parkview of Sulphur, La. The game will be played at the War Memorial Park in Pass Christian.

Friday's games are scheduled with 7:30 p.m. kickoffs and I am hoping the stands will be filled with local supporters.

Our local teams need good fan support and the Tigers, Hawks, Rocks, Pirates and Raiders can all benefit from good fan support each week.

Best of luck to all teams in the 1990 season.

Corbet Patridge force behind prison changes

Even though he was a plantation owner like many of his Delta colleagues in the Legislature, Corbet Lee Patridge was an oddity in the early 1960s.

Unlike other traditional Delta lawmakers, Patridge believed that prisoners at Parchman Penitentiary should not be beaten with a lash or housed in sub-human conditions.

When Corbet Lee was heading the Senate Penitentiary Committee and literally shedding tears trying to squeeze money out of his fellow lawmakers to make Parchman a decent prison instead of a hell-hole, very few took him seriously.

Most legislators then believed that what was good enough for convicts when the sprawling penitentiary was located in the Delta shortly after the turn of the century was still good enough.

It is a matter of history that a tough-nut Mississippi-born federal judge, the late William C. Keady, ruled a few years later that Parchman was unfit for human habitation, and forced the state to institute major prison reforms that have cost millions of dollars. Once again, Mississippi had to pay dearly for its neglect.

Last May, Corbet Lee Patridge died at the age of 66, and was buried at Ruleville, where he had gone to live after moving from his beloved Delta farm at Schlatter several years ago. Right up until he died, Corbet Lee was still trying to make the state's correctional system better.

One of the few pieces of progressive legislation passed at the 1990 session of the Legislature was a bill creating a prison industries corporation to plan and administer a comprehensive job training program for inmates in the state penal system. Under the legislation, directors of the corporation are appointed by the governor.

Patridge had a major role in getting the prison industries corporation legislation through the Legislature, according to no less an authority than Sen. Robert Crook, of Ruleville, the Senate Corrections Committee chairman who handled the bill.

"He (Patridge) wrote the biggest part of the prison industries act," Crook declared. "Quite frankly, I passed every single thing he suggested. I relied very heavily on him because he was sensitive, and knowledgeable and very constructive."

Despite his bum ticker, (he had two heart attacks going back to the late 1970s) Patridge made many trips to the state Capitol as an interested citizen at his own expense to provide input on the prison industries measure. "He was down there at least 10 times," said Crook.

In September of last year, Patridge who had been a member of a non-paid advisory committee to Corrections Commissioner Lee Roy Black, went with a delegation to Florida to look at the prison industry program in that state. "We're far behind some of the other states around us in doing this," Crook declared. Corbet Lee, he said, "was quite aware of that."

Without being directly critical of Gov. Ray Mabus for not making his appointments to the new prison industries corporation board of directors for more than five months after the act was passed, Crook said "this program has enormous potential, although it is getting off to a delayed start."

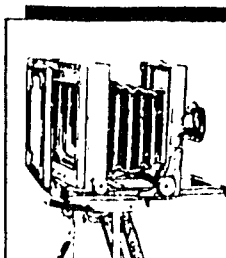

Patridge as supposed to be named one of the directors of the prison industries board. "Losing Pat is a big blow, because he could have been a great deal of help in getting the new board on track," Crook added.

During the Jimmy Carter administration, Patridge, who had been defeated for reelection in 1975, was made a deputy administrator of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration in Washington. Patridge's job was to administer federal funds allotted for assistance to states and local governments for prison and jail improvements throughout the country.

That the drawing, country-looking former state legislator from Mississippi managed to get the highly placed job in Washington was thought at the time to be some kind of political payoff. But Patridge said it was not politics but persistence.

Once during the early '70s when Patridge was making an emotional plea for a bill to establish a blood plasma program for prisoners at the state penitentiary, he suddenly became ashen and keeled over on the Senate floor.

A member of the Mississippi House who was a doctor happened to be in the Capitol at the time. When the lawmaker/doctor took a look at Patridge, his observation was: "He's

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

Training the counselors

More than 30 high school counselors from Mississippi, Arkansas and Louisiana have been assembled for 10 days on the campus of Mississippi College in Clinton.

They are there at the invitation of the Entergy Corporation, parent of Mississippi Power & Light Company and sister utility companies in the other states.

The purpose for the assembly?

The counselors are being introduced to economic development activities, results, and projections for the three-state area.

The reason for the assembly is obvious.

These counselors are giving direction to high school students on a day-to-day basis—laborers who will be entering the Middle South region workforce in the years just ahead.

This is the fourth year of the Entergy Corporation's sponsorship of the assembly of counselors. More than 100 counselors have already completed the course. And, already, counselors once frustrated, discouraged, and distressed are exhibiting new enthusiasm and new optimism. Their new-found business friend has brought new hope.

Entergy has set the example. Now, other businesses would do well to follow. There is a need for strong business-education partnerships throughout the Middle South.

Training the counselors is a good place to start.

American reservists among the world's finest fighting forces

For every soldier on the front lines of battle, you usually have three people working to keep him there. Medical personnel, transportation and supply handlers, and other specialists play a vital role preparing and sustaining combat troops.

Certainly no group is better trained to provide these services than America's approximately 1.9 million "selected military reserves." Last week, as many as 40,000 reservists across the country, including Mississippians, were summoned to duty by the President because of the Persian Gulf crisis.

Why the reservists? In the words of our President, "American reservists are the finest, most patriotic military formation in the world. Senate Armed Services Committee Chairman Dan Rostenkowski adds, they "possess the skills and perform functions not available in the active forces."

The Army Reserve, for instance, boasts units comprising two-thirds of the Army's water supply, half of the ammunition, fuel handling and chemical decontamination units, two-thirds of Army hospital units and a large portion of military finance, supply and food capabilities.

For years now, the United States has been reducing, for cost purposes, the size and the scope of our armed forces. Many of the support services are being performed by civilian personnel in fixed military bases. In the event of war, however, the Congress has given the President authority to mobilize up to 200,000 reservists to provide the same support services at home or overseas, if necessary.

Although it looks like most reservists will be used in the United States to fill vacancies left by active duty personnel, most reservists are ready and willing to provide support assistance in the Persian Gulf, if necessary.

Many of the reservists are Vietnam and Korean veterans who know the taste of battle and still want to serve their country. The men and women have sacrificed weekends, vacations and in many cases months of their free time for training. They aren't afraid to risk their lives in defense of their country and its way of life.

Most of all, the situation in the Middle East is exactly what the reservists have been trained for.

To my brother

KILLING TIME

By Traci Bonney

This is probably the last place you'd expect to see anything about the current crisis in the Middle East, but guess what my column is about?

The situation over there (I'm being polite by calling it a situation) hits close to home. My youngest brother, Robert, is in the Army, stationed at Fort Bliss in El Paso.

He may be sent overseas at any time. If he does, he'll leave behind his wife and two children.

I know he's on edge right now. It must be scary, at the age of 21, to know that you could be sent to a country you've never seen, to fight people you've never met, at a moment's notice.

Let me tell you about Robert, or as I better know him, Bob.

He's the youngest of three children. Born on July 16, 1969, he entered the world at the same moment that historic Apollo rocket left it. Bob doesn't know this, but I once joked that when he was born, people left the planet.

The doctor who delivered him suggested that he be named Apollo, in honor of the space flight. Fortunately, Mom and Dad didn't go for that idea. They did give him Neil as his middle name, but Mom says she had selected that before Bob's birth and it had nothing to do with Neil Armstrong.

Bob is a joker. One-liners are his specialty, and also his way of covering up his worry. He's probably cracking jokes a mile a minute right now.

Dad told me that Bob gave Mom this reason not to worry about him while talking on the phone to her a few days ago: "I'm going to be driving an armored personnel carrier. Mom, I won't get hurt; the Army will take care of me. They don't want to lose such an expensive piece of equipment."

Bob likes my writing. In fact, he likes it so much that he once tried to steal a poem of mine for an English project. He changed one word (and changing one word in a seven-word haiku isn't doing much) and tried to claim it was his. I threatened to sue him for plagiarism.

He does have some talents of his own. He's a terrific artist and a good draftsman. At one time, when I thought I was going to marry someone I had dated for two years, I asked Bob to draw up the plans for my dream house. He not only drew them up just as I wanted, he suggested a few things that really improved the house.

Bob is a good father, from what I've seen when his family visits. He plays with his son Stephen and really enjoys the toddler's company, but he's not reluctant to discipline when it's needed. Bob is one of the most mature 21-year-olds I've ever seen.

That wasn't always the case, though. One particular time I remember was a Christmas holiday two or three years ago, when Bob got bored and decided to "punk out." Not only did he just about demolish my black eyeliner making up his face and drawing fake tattoos on his arms, but he did horrendous things to a pair of old jeans and a rather ragged t-shirt.

Then, to top it all off, he got me to take two pictures of him.

I kept the negatives for quite some time (you never know when the need for blackmail may arise). But you can relax, Bob; I threw them away a couple of weeks ago.

There's so much more, both good and bad, I could say about Bob, but I'm not trying to form a fan club here.

I just want to tell you, little brother, that I love you. I'm thinking about you and praying for you. I hope you don't get sent, but if you do, I'm asking God to protect you.

See you later, Bob.

months to complete."

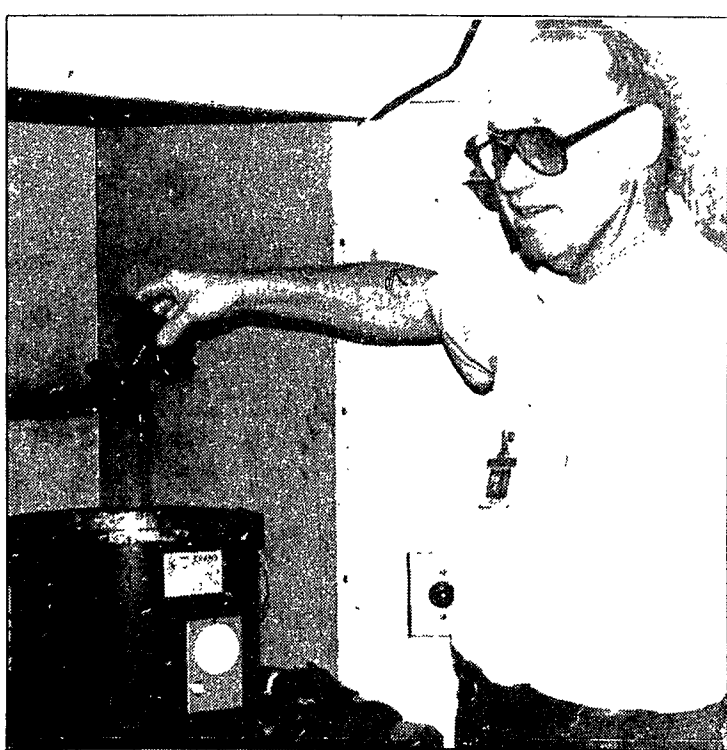

Sawyer said several companies have expressed an interest in re-utilizing parts of the plant, but no firm proposals have surfaced.

The layaway process could be stopped, but "only if it affects part of the plant a company wants to use, and only if there is a firm proposal from a company."

Meanwhile, the mothballing of the plant continues.

"We're still going down the same path we've been going down for six months," Sawyer said.

The plant, which employed about 1700 people before a series of layoffs began, was targeted in February for mothballing. To date, about 1150 people have been let go.

Going once, going twice, sold

Monday, August 27 was the first day of the 1989 delinquent realty tax sale. Things proceeded calmly as Tina Stiglet led the auction at the Hancock County Courthouse. The bidding was for the 1989 delinquent taxes for Hancock County and the City of Bay St. Louis. (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran) much more credibility? Who are you?"

Harvill completed expressing his grievances by pulling out a spray bottle, which he said was hydrochloric acid with a pH of 1.0 (which is considered extremely dangerous) and suggested the NASA panel "spray this in their faces, take a deep breath and see what happens."

Part of the audience applauded uproariously, while others were offended by the theatrics.

Hancock County Civic Center was the site of the second of four meetings NASA is conducting to address local distress over the contracted testing of the ASRM. The final meeting will be tonight at the Ramada Inn in Slidell at 7 p.m.

Appeals throughout the evening to change to liquid fuel which emits water, as opposed to solid fuel, which emits hydrogen chloride, were addressed by Miller. Solid rockets can be returned and reused, whereas the liquid rockets burn up.

The decision to remain with solid was one of economics, according to Miller.

NASA asked for support for monies from Congress to continue the lengthy research necessary to develop liquid fuel into a practical alternative. But at this time, "NASA has no plan B," said Miller.

Four representatives from EBASCO, consultants to NASA for the impact study, addressed several of the questions fielded from the audience.

D.C. Harvill

Resident Lydia Schultz questioned NASA representatives wanting to see for herself the results of a consortium of scientists from Mississippi State University which gathered to study the ASRM project last year.

NASA director Jack Rogers said NASA has of yet to receive any results from the study other than a letter saying they concluded with NASA on the safety to the area. Rogers assured Schultz he would contact the consortium and share the official response.

Schultz expressed her deep environmental concern saying in a strained voice, "...you people were given the job to make us feel good about this testing. I don't feel good about it, and there is no way that you can convince me... I will fight it with every fiber in my being."

Scott Tucker of the EBASCO investigating team spoke of the dispersion of the plume (cloud of smoke or emissions released during firing). The plume was explained to rise into the higher levels of the atmosphere "typically... requiring two weeks before it would eventually find a rain drop and come back to the earth."

Kevin Pokallus, resident and businessman questioned "the void between predicted and planned out."

Someone called out for a guarantee of 'no risk' from NASA. It could not be given.

Rogers spoke to the audience in an attempt to express the commitment by NASA to monitor weather conditions, thereby eliminating all testing during rain periods, and the commitment to stop all testing should any damage to the area result.

Stella Frilot, Waveland alderman asked to hear the benefits of the ASRM program in numbers of jobs.

Miller listed the benefits as expected; 300 direct construction jobs, 200 technicians and engineers. For the three-county and one-parish area will share a $24 million increase in revenues and $300,000 million addition tax revenues.

Stennis Space Center deputy director Gerald Smith stressed the need to accept the ASRM program saying, "It is my belief...that the agency may well not bring the next program here."

The bubbling of anger could be heard throughout the audience over the implied threat.

NASA was questioned on other interests; Dr. Bertin Chevris of Hancock Medical Center came to address his concern for the inaccurate reporting of no evidence linking aluminum to Alzheimer's disease.

He requested further studies be conducted, and this time by qualified and independent scientists. He gently suggested that his concern was self-motivated saying, "I'm too busy right now to have any more patients."

African-American Arts Fest slated in Gulfside

The Neighborhood Gallery of New Orleans will host their first annual African-American Arts Festival in Waveland Sept. 2 and 3.

The two-day festival will be at Gulfside Methodist Assembly Retreat. Gulfside is located on the Gulf of Mexico adjacent to Buccaneer Park.

African-American artists, craftsmen and creative entrepreneurs will market their products on the 140-acre grounds that offers a perfect setting for family activities.

"We hope this festival will grow as large as the Atlanta Black Arts Festival," said Sandra Berry, director of the Neighborhood Gallery. "Louisiana and Mississippi are home to many African-American artists who have been left out of the arts community. This festival will be an outdoor showcase gallery."

Ronald Jones, Joseph Pearson, Shakor, Tammy Mahone, Terri Mims, Ted Ellis and

Anjanette Berry, who are artists represented by the Neighborhood Gallery, will be among the group of participants in this festival.

An evening showcase of the gallery's performing artists will also be Sunday, Sept. 2 at 7:30 p.m.

Featured will be poetry by Arthur Pfister, Labertha McCormick, Tammy McCormick, Kelly Richards, Robin Stewart White with music by Stephen Alfred, The Duke of

New Orleans, Chilly O'Neal, Clyde-Linda Matthews, Joshua Walker, Johnny Robinson, Tim Davis and storytelling by Ann Cooper and Harrietta Harris.

Admission for the showcase is $3 for members of the Neighborhood Gallery and $5 for non-members. The two-day festival is free and open to the public.

For further information, contact the gallery at 504-891-5573.

Shrimp trawling, red snapper public hearing set in N. O.

Reductions in the directed red snapper commercial quota from 3.1 to 1.0 million pounds and in the recreational bag limit from seven to two fish per person per day are proposed for implementation in 1991 by the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council.

In addition, the council has proposed a shrimp trawling closed season in the Gulf from May 1 through July 31 beginning in 1991 with either additional closures or requirements for trawl gear modifications in 1993 to reduce bycatch of small snapper.

These new regulations will be implemented next year if there is little public opposition. The purpose of these public hearings is to allow the fishermen most affected by the proposed regulations to provide input to the Gulf of Mexico Fishery Management Council.

The New Orleans-Gulf Coast area public hearing will be Thursday, Aug. 30 at 7 p.m. at New Orleans Theatre for the Performing Arts, 1201 St. Peter St. (next to the Municipal Auditorium) in New Orleans. For further information contact Douglas Gregory (513) 228-2815.

Bob Davis opened the audience question period of the evening by expressing his concern with the sitings of the Florida Black Panther in the buffer zone surrounding NASA. Davis requested competent researchers including one from Florida to document the existence of the endangered species.

NASA suggested that the acid level from one test of the ASRM equals those amounts released during a day of production at a coal burning power plant.

Nearly four hours of discussion was heard Tuesday night. The crowd was thinning out as it passed 10 p.m. When a question was asked and the explanation required chart assistance, the people yelled "No."

There is a 45-day "open period" in which written comments will be received by NASA. The address is:

NASA Environmental Officer, Code GAOO, Stennis Space Center, MS 39529-2000.

Bay's 'Project Pride' completes city entrance beautification

The Bay St. Louis Public Works Department completed phase one of 'Project Pride's' Hwy. 90 beautification recently with the removal of several bushes and the elevation of tree limbs at the Bay bridge entrance to the city.

Organization signs were removed to the city yard for refurbishment. The signs will be installed in a new location in a uniform manner.

There are several church identification signs that will be moved and installed in the same manner as the organization signs. It is the intent of the city and the Project Pride committee to clean up as much sign clutter on Hwy. 90 as possible," stated Mayor Edward Favre.

Patt Cuculla and Zita Waller, local artists, have volunteered to refurbish the historic downtown signs. Faded paint rendered the signs illegible unless a motorist were very close. Waller stated the signs cannot be read after dark and this problem will be solved with the refurbishment.

With the completion of phase one, city employees and the committee will move to the second block of Hwy. 90 to prune oleanders and trees on the service road.

Phase three will address the Dunbar Avenue/Hwy. 90 intersection. The committee plans to work with business owners at the intersection to safely beautify the area and eliminate unnecessary signs.

Volunteers are needed and those persons interested in assisting the Project Pride committee may call Michael Cuevas, City Hall, 467-9092.

Aquarium of the Americas features distinctive music

The Aquarium of the Americas, scheduled to open this Labor Day weekend, will feature a distinctive sound in each of its four major exhibit areas. Music will consist of four hours of original composition by Louisiana musical artist Stephen Dankner.

A computerized sound system has been installed in each of the major exhibits—the Gulf of Mexico, the Caribbean Reef, Amazon Rainforest and the Mississippi River.

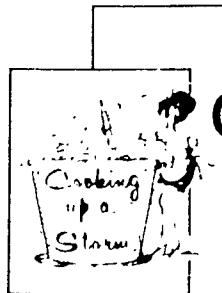

The system includes eight synthesizers playing continuous music over a 24-hour period. Sound effects, which will set the environmental moods in each of the exhibit areas, will include jungle sounds in the Amazon, bird sounds in the Mississippi, and ocean sounds in the Caribbean.

Local artist Douglas Ferguson assembled the sound effects for the Aquarium of the Americas' unique musical soundtrack. The musical components of each of the exhibit areas enhances the mood of the exhibits.

Dankner holds a doctorate in music composition from the Juilliard school in New York. He currently teaches music composition at Loyola University and the New Orleans Center for Creative Arts.

The unique musical format is one of many components of the Audubon Institute's extensive half million dollar arts program for the Aquarium of the Americas, which also includes paintings, sculptures and other stylized art forms.

COOKING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

Perhaps in today's inflationary (or whatever) flatinary you wish to call it) times there won't be many hosts roasting or grilling large cuts of meats and such over the long Labor Day weekend; but there are many other tasty ways to celebrate the holiday, such as chicken or hamburgers, or that favorite of mine, barbecued seafood.

There's a barbecue choice for everyone, whatever your taste and budget; and here's a recipe which won't break the weekly food bank, calling as it does for round or shoulder steak, although you may wish to turn to porterhouse or sirloin or other steaks if your food budget's at least in the pink and not the red!

At any rate, try:

HERB-AND-WINE GRILLED STEAK

3 lbs. round or shoulder steak, 2 1/2 inches thick
2 cups dry red wine
1/2 cup olive or salad oil
2 Tbsp. minced onion
1/2 tsp. minced garlic
1/4 to 1/2 tsp. pepper, to your taste

1 Tbsp. salt, if desired
Wipe the meat with a dampened paper towel, and place in a large, non-metallic bowl or heavy plastic bag. Combine the remaining ingredients and pour over the meat. Cover the bowl, or securely seal the bag.

Marinate in the refrigerator for 24 hours, turning the meat two or three times to distribute the marinade evenly. When you're ready to grill the meat, drain the marinade, reserving it.

Grill the steak over hot charcoal four or five inches from the heat for 20 or 30 minutes, or until it reaches the degree of "doneness" which suits your palate, turning and basting with the marinade from time to time, and making sure that the marinade heats up well (remember, you soaked the raw steak in it, so it must be cooked).

Slice thinly, on the diagonal, to serve on hot French bread slices, buttered and garlic accented.

Or, you may prefer one of my favorites:

BARBECUED BEEF BRISKET

First, marinate an eight-to-ten pound beef brisket overnight in the fridge; and, we're taking the lazy route—in a bottle (7-oz.) of Italian salad dressing. Get your fire ready, and when it is, place the brisket to the rear, away from the coals and cook over the low fire for four or five hours, basting with the marinade.

Add charcoal as needed to maintain an even, low heat. And when the brisket's ready, cut across the grain, in ever-so-thin slices. (12 to 15 servings)

Reflections

On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

Come to me

Psychologists tell us insistently that the beginning of all human development and personhood is acceptance. Unless we accept ourselves and unless we are accepted by others who matter, we cannot have self-esteem, nor can we reach out for others.

As usual, Jesus leads the way in accepting all of us indiscriminately.

"Come to me," he bids us, "all you who are weary and find life burdensome, and I will refresh you" (Mt. 11: 28).

Come to me, all you who refer to yourselves with the filthiest four-letter words; you have no esteem or respect for yourselves, and who feel equally strong that no one else respects you either.

I hold you in the highest esteem—so high that my Father gave me up to be born for you, to be human like you, to live with you, to suffer and bear all your pains, to die and to rise again for you.

All you who moan around depressed all the day long, who feel that there is nothing to wake up to in the morning, who think that there is no one nor anything in the whole world to turn you on, come to me. I will lift you out of sorrow and bring you joy.

Come to me, all you who have been used, abused, toyed with and exploited by people close to you—by so-called friends, by acquaintances, by neighbors, by strangers. Come to me, and I will heal you from your emotional hurts.

Do come to me, you who are broken hearted because of betrayal by the people whom you have trusted most, or because of being rejected and jilted by those in whom you placed your love. Come to me, and I will repair your broken hearts.

All you who have been traumatized by sexual abuse from the days of your early youth or even from childhood itself, come to me, and I will remove your feelings of filth and worthlessness, so that you will live at a healthy level of self-respect.

Come to me, all you who in your own turn have inflicted physical and/or sexual abuses on others, and who, therefore, find it difficult to forgive yourselves or to seek forgiveness of those whom you have abused. Come to me, and I will teach you my way of unconditional and universal forgiveness.

All you who are bogged down in the quagmire of addictions, come to me. Leave your alcohol and other downers such as barbiturates. Give up your speed, cocaine, heroin, ice, angel dust, hashish and all the families of drugs.

Further, come to me, all you bathroom junkies, who are not identified as addicts, but who are addicts in fact because you use your medicine cabinet as a screen for the abuse of legal drugs.

And, yes, come to me all you addicts of food, gambling, power, prestige, pleasure, and even you addicts of religion who use it as a facade!

I will replace your addictions and cravings with a deep hunger for my Good News and for the abundant life which I have brought to share with you.

Come to me, you who consider yourselves abject failures in one or the other segment of life, and maybe in all of life itself.

Come to me, the very Prototype of all failure, humanly speaking, and I will give you the only success which counts in life: the possession of living faith and the eternal life which it brings.

All of you who feel that your life has been so evil, so brutal, so selfish, that there is no hope for you, that you are sure to be condemned by people and God alike, come to me, and I will show you convincingly that my Father, our Holy Spirit and I have no bounds to our mercy, compassion, forgiveness and sharing of life.

'Happy Church' pastor plans move

BY TRACI BONNEY

Micky Green of First Assembly of God in Waveland is about to leave for the spiritual harvest fields of northwest Alabama.

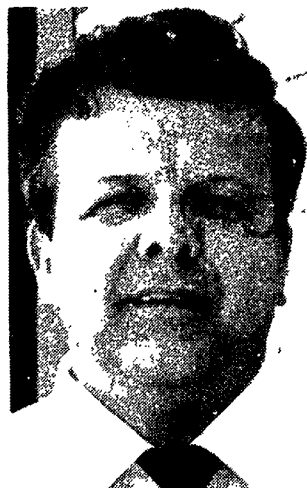

Green, pastor for almost five years of a fellowship that has come to be called the "Happy Church," said he will best remember the times the church has been of help to others.

"What are my fondest memories? The times that I've seen people come off the streets, turn their backs to the world and dedicate their lives to the Lord.

No tears flowed, but Green wiped his eyes several times during the conversation as he continued. "I'll also cherish the great friends I've made here. This church is like a family to me. They'll always have a real special place in my heart."

When asked about what has happened at the church during the time of his leadership, he said, "I feel the Lord's taking us into a deeper realm of worship."

REV. MICKY GREEN

He has opened a ministry of counseling to people who are into the occult, to drug addicts and homosexuals. He's also given us a deliverance ministry. "We've seen Trinity Christian Academy grow, and we've taken on a children's pastor. We've seen the church double in attendance and spiritual growth."

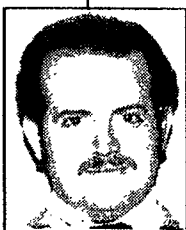

Church secretary Donna Floyd said the church also has "jumping" worship services.

Green said if he can leave one bit of advice with the congregation of the Happy Church and other area Christians, it is this: "Just don't let the fire die. Keep on keeping on."

Speaking of his upcoming move to a small Assembly of God church in Demopolis, Alabama, Green said, "Two months ago the Lord began dealing with me about it. I fought it, not wanting to leave. I'm very happy here, and there's never been a problem between the church and me."

Floyd said, "The church people are really sad to see him go, too, but they're willing to let him go to what God wants him to do."

LOOKING INSIDE

By Pastor Bob
Guidry, Jr.

Joey and a life support system

In my travels over the last week, I ran across a very sad story, one that brought a tear to my eye. I was in Huntsville, Alabama, when the story was told to me by a man named Michael W. Rogillio.

It is a story of a boy named Joey and a life support system, and it goes something like this: Joey was in his condition as the result of an accident that was not his fault.

Unable to breathe, eat or drink on his own, he had to receive oxygen, food and water through life support. His condition was such that he had to be kept in a biologically sterile environment where his temperature could be maintained at 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit and his immune system could be given antibiotics. Joey's blood had to be processed external to his body because his organs were not functioning.

Unknown to Joey, a decision about whether or not to remove him from life support was being made.

Doctors were consulted and they all agreed that Joey's condition was certainly improving. In a few months all of his organs would be working and then Joey could be safely removed from life support. Given time, Joey would certainly be up and about. Soon Joey would be laughing, walking and talking.

There were arguments both for and against removing Joey from life support. Some argued that he was not really "alive" because he could not live without life support and only slightly resembled a human being in his condition. Others said that Joey was "alive," was doing better every day and they pleaded that his life be spared.

The decision was made. Joey was removed from life support.

Now Joey is dead. There are no arguments about whether or not he really is "dead."

The accident was conception. Life support was Joey's mother.

Raiders to host Sulphur, La. at home

The Reserve High School Eagles traveled to Pass Christian Friday night and defeated the Coast Episcopal High School Raiders 32-2 in the second week of the Raiders' football season.

Behind the running of junior quarterback Tony Monroe, the Eagles built a 20-2 halftime margin and never looked back in winning their opening game of the season.

In the first quarter, the Eagles drove down to the 20-yard line of the Raiders before senior linebacker, Jeff Homrig picked off a Monroe pass inside the five.

After being unable to move the football, the Raiders were forced to punt. Monroe took the punt and raced 60 yards for the touchdown. The two-point conversion was good, and the Eagles led 8-0.

On the Eagles' next possession, senior running back Vance Jones took the pitch from Monroe and scampered 25 yards for the TD. The two-point conversion was not good, and the score was 14-0.

Midway through the second period, the Raiders got their only points of the night when Homrig and junior Linn Montjoy tackled Monroe in the end zone for a safety, making the score 14-2.

The Eagles scored once more in the first half as Monroe raced 15 yards for the touchdown. Again, the two-point conversion failed, and the half ended with the Eagles on top 20-2.

In the second half, the Eagles scored two more times and coasted to the victory.

"Defensively, we didn't play as badly as the score indicates," said Raider coach Jack Hutchison. "We had a few breakdowns by individuals which allowed the Eagles their first two touchdowns."

On offense the Raiders had little success moving the football on the ground. During the evening, the Raiders picked up 16 yards on 17 carries. In the air, the Raiders performed better as they picked up 80 yards completing eight of 19 passes.

Senior Bruce Hull completed six of 16 for 69 yards with one interception. Sophomore Dave Hagan was 2 for 3 for 21 yards, and was also on the receiving end of two passes for 60 yards.

"We knew, going into the season, that it was going to be tough the first couple of games," said Hutchison. "Next week, we'll make some changes on offense, and hopefully put some points on the board."

Defensive standouts for the Raiders were Montjoy, Homrig and seniors Damien Lawyer and Jack Coggin.

The Raiders will play home again this week when they take on the Sulphur Patriots Friday night at 7 p.m. in Pass Christian at the City Park on Fleitas and Second streets.

Tigers open against Pearl River

BY RANDY PONDER

Stamina could very well be the deciding factor as Bay High School hosts Pearl River, La. in high school football Friday night. Nine Tiger starters will play both offense and defense.

Look for a low scoring contest with lots of miscues as the two teams keep the ball on the ground, running right at each other.

Pearl River, 8-2 last year, appears to have a big question mark at the quarterback position. The signal caller played split end last season. His main job will probably be to snap the ball and hand it off.

The mainstay of their team is Jerrome Egge, a 6'5", 265-pound tackle considered by many to be a top college prospect.

Tiger coach Rocky Gaudin expects Pearl to run the football. "We will load up on the line and try to take away what they do best."

"Pearl River is a good team. They were co-champions in their division last year. But I don't think they are any better than we are. I expect us to play a good solid game and win."

Gaudin said, "You have to win at home. If you don't play well on your home field, it's not very likely you will do better away. We want to make it tough on teams coming in here, get a reputation for doing what it takes to win."

"We expect a good turnout, hope the people will give us a chance. I came here to build this program, but we want to win now. If we put out the effort, we will win this game."

Starting on offense will be Reggie Hays, center; Kris Bar-

Starters on defense are Cuevas and Hays, tackles; Barlow and Hopgood, ends; Scharp, Rogers, Loiacano and Brennan Compretta, linebackers; Brink, Mitchell and Trelis Haynes, secondary.

Show your spirit

Percy Gaudin, father of Bay High School head football coach Rocky Gaudin, purchases a T-shirt from Bay High Athletic Club member Pat Favre. Bobby Compretta displays one of the blue and gold shirts, which sell for $10 each in adult sizes, $8 in children's sizes. Shirts will be available at Friday night's opening game against Pearl River, La., at the school office or Loiacano's Health Club. Proceeds benefit Bay St. Louis Athletic Club.

Hawks take on Warriors on the road Friday night

The Hancock High Hawks take to the road Friday in their first game of the season against the d'Iberville Warriors.

According to head coach Irvin Favre, several starters will assume dual roles for the Hawks, including senior Brodie Forrest and junior David King, who both play offensive and defensive guard and end.

Also playing both ways are senior Jonathan Fletcher, offensive and defensive tackle; senior Regan Ladner, quarterback and defensive corner; and junior Bobby Doyle, offensive fullback and linebacker.

Joining these players on the offensive lineup will be Ike Majors and Dennis Devilbiss as ends, Eric Necaise as tackle, Otis Dereyna as center and Terrance Goff and Jerome Vince as halfbacks.

Rounding off the defensive unit will be Steve Miller as tackle, Gabe Lumpkin, Dennis Malley and Richard Simmons as linebackers, Radley Ladner as cornerback and Jeff Favre as safety and backup quarterback. Kickoff time is 7:30 p.m.

PRC opens 1990 season tonight

If Pearl River Community College football coach Mike Nelson ever wanted a true opening test for his Wildcats, then he will have one Thursday night against the Northwest Rangers.

Consider what's facing the Wildcats.

The Rangers are defending state champs. They finished the 1989 season with a 12-2 ledger and a third place national ranking.

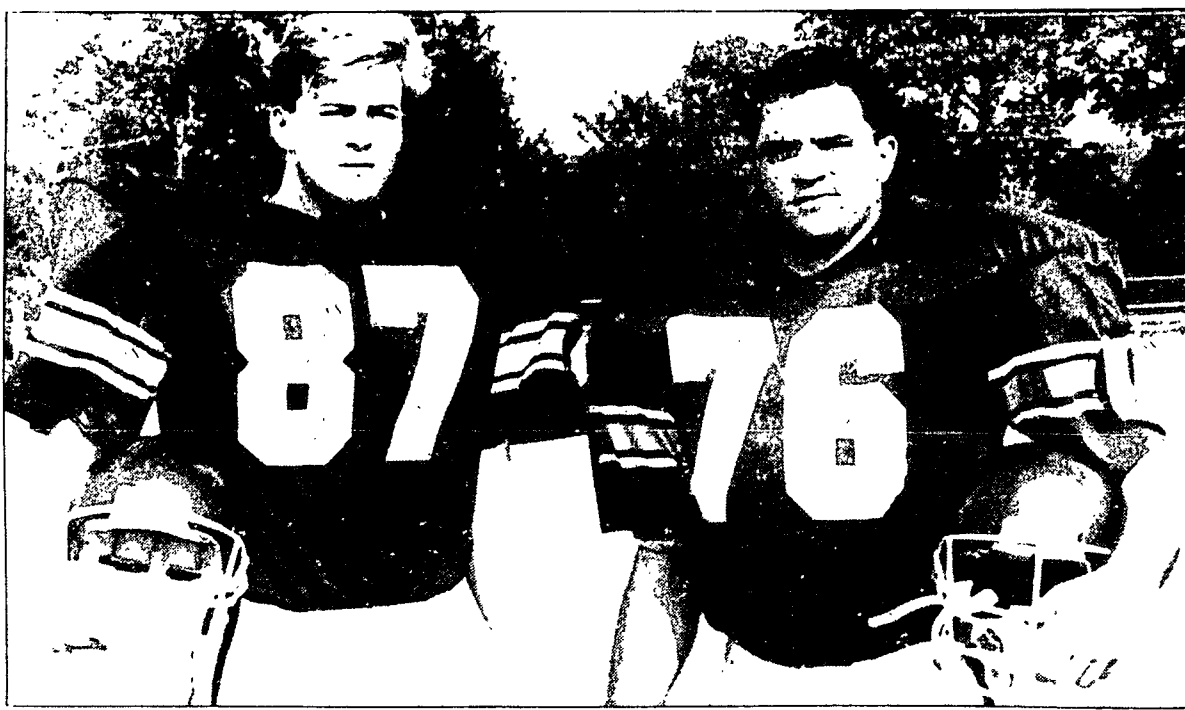

They have a pre-season All-American quarterback returning with a 260-pound fullback, an All-American running back and an offensive line averaging nearly 300 pounds.

Nelson and his coaching staff spent a long time looking at the Northwest roster.

"We will have our hands full," said Nelson. "The battle will be in their backyard (at the Ranger Field) and it will be tough."

"The good news is we won't have to wait to be tested under fire," said Nelson. "Once Thursday night's game is over, we'll know a lot about our team."

Nelson sent his squad

Hancock grads at PRC

Pearl River College will open its 1990 football season on the road today against the Northwest Rangers. Members of the Wildcat squad from Hancock County are 87-Sean Benefield and 76-Don Hunter, graduates of Hancock North Central.

PRC coaches

The Pearl River Wildcats will travel tonight to Senatobia to take on the Northwest Rangers, who posted a 12-2 record last season and have been picked as the team to beat in the North Division this year. Behind the coaching of Mike Nelson, seated, the Wildcats will seek to improve last year's 5-5 record. Assistant coaches are, from left, Bill Martin, Mike Harris, Herbert Morris and Mike Humphreys, who is married to the former Stacie Comeaux of Bay St. Louis.

through tuneup drills all week with the potent Northwest offense in mind.

"Their quarterback (Kelvin Simmons) is an excellent athlete," said Nelson. "Their running backs worry me too."

Overall, the Wildcats should be in pretty good shape. After all, the Wildcats have their own pre-season All-American in the form of running back Michael Toefield.

And on defense end, Roy Wayne Jones, who has spent the last three years in the Army, was mentioned as a possible All-American.

Nelson, offensive backfield has a lot of experience. Starters last season include quarterback Mel Hackbarth of Oak Grove; wingback Cedric Anderson of Independence, La.; wide receiver Reginald Austin of Opelousas, La.; fullback Bourbon Womack of Bassfield and Toefield from Independence.

The PRC offense last year finished tenth in the nation in rushing offense, however, Northwest finished fourth. PRC, who had a 5-5 ledger, averaged 246 yards per game, while Northwest rambled for 297.

Toefield finished fourth in the nation with an average of 131 yards per game. Thankfully for the Wildcats, Northwest's Vince Powell, who led the nation with 175 yards per game, is gone.

That was the good news. The bad news is that sophomore Raymond Barksdale (6'1-220), who was mentioned as a potential All-American running back, is back.

Barksdale rushed for 117 yards and was named the most Valuable Player in the Rangers' 31-27 win over Kilgore, Texas, in the 1989 Texas Shrine Bowl.

On the PRC offensive line Jackson Hall (275) of Picayune and Johnny Scott (265) of PCAHS will anchor the guard positions while Chris Lumpkin (270) of Carriere and Kirk Champagne (285) of Franklin, La. will hold down the tackle spots.

Center and tightend positions are still up in the air.

On defense the Wildcats will have Roy Wayne Jones of Eunice, La. at a defensive end, Wydell Jones (255) of Hattiesburg and Wallace Clark (270) of Church Point, La. at the tackles.

Linebackers will include Lateef Travis (225) of Pensacola, Fla.; Greg Touchstone (215) of Oak Grove and Terry Moore (225) of Panama City, Fla.

Greg Grandeson of Pensacola, who last year started eight games for the University of Florida, will be at a defensive back position along with Bobby Pope (170) of Hattiesburg.

Nelson refused to name the other starters simply because he has not yet made up his mind.

Returning starting defensive end Lance Taylor of Wiggins quit the team last week and his replacement, Chris Monroe, injured a knee and is now out.

"I just don't want to talk about our kicking game at this point," said Nelson. "Decisions still have to be made."

Nelson said the Wildcats were to leave Wednesday for Senatobia where the Cats will take on the Rangers in a 7:30 p.m. game.

"If you've got to lose your gallbladder, it's the only way to go!"

That's what Juli Record says about laser surgery at Garden Park Community Hospital. She knows from experience. Juli's surgery started at 10 a.m. Wednesday and she was home the next morning. In less than two weeks she was back at work.

At Garden Park Community Hospital, specially trained physicians are now able to use laser technology for gallbladder removal. As an alternative treatment method to traditional surgery, laser surgery results in reduced trauma to the body and less recovery time. That means less pain to you and instead of up to six days in the hospital recovering, an average stay of only one day. Like Juli, you may be able to have your laser surgery performed on an outpatient basis in our 24-hour observation unit.

So, if you're interested in laser surgery or need information, call Garden Park Community Hospital at 864-4210 and find out why laser surgery really is the only way to go.

Dove season opens Sept. 1

Sept. 1 may find Mississippi sportsmen and sportswomen just a little torn over their desires. Do they want to watch one of the first football games of the season, or do they want to go dove hunting?

For an estimated 100,000 sports enthusiasts, dove hunting will be the sport of choice.

The first dove season of the year begins 30 minutes before sunrise Sept. 1 and runs through Sept. 23. The second season begins Oct. 13 and runs through Oct. 27, and the third season begins Dec. 22 and ends Jan. 12.

Hunters this year need a valid state hunting license, permission to hunt on private land, current regulations for hunting on public land in their area and a shotgun that will hold no more than three shells. The daily bag limit is 15 birds.

It is illegal to hunt on baited fields. To be within the law, fields must be used for normal agricultural practices.

"Hunters can't plant something that won't grow, like cracked corn and call it a cornfield," said Bob Griffen, research coordinator with the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

"They also can't plant something out-of-season and can't pile grain. It must be distributed according to regular agricultural practices."

While dove hunting isn't as dangerous as some types of hunting, there have been fatalities and injuries resulting from the activity.

"We've got two types of injuries associated with dove hunting," Griffen said. "The non-serious injuries result from being peppered by shotgun pellets from a distance, and the other more dangerous injuries involve shotgun blasts at close range."

Griffen said hunters need to be alert to the location of other hunters and be careful when swinging their guns around to follow the flight of birds.

Griffen also warned against drinking alcohol while hunting.

"It's illegal to drink alcohol while hunting, and it is also dangerous," he said. "It slows reflexes and interferes with judgment."

Last year, an estimated 2,034 million mourning doves were killed by 105,000 licensed hunters in the state during the three legal seasons. The number of hunters dropped by 10,000 from 1987 to 1989.

"We just don't have the young hunters taking up the sport," said Griffen. "Nationally, there is a decline in the number of small game hunters. This is somewhat of a concern because it means fewer hunting licenses, and this money is used to support wildlife conservation."

However, the decline in the number of hunters will not have an effect on dove populations. Mourning doves have a high natural death rate.

Research shows that 70 out of every 100 birds will die from natural causes before they reach one year old, regardless of whether they are hunted or not.

"This is what we call compensatory mortality," Griffen said. "Most of the birds killed by hunters would soon die of natural causes anyway."

Tidelands revenues roll in

The Bureau of Marine Resources, part of the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, will receive $28,857.12 this month from six tidelands leases.

The Secretary of State's Office, after deducting administrative costs is required to place the lease revenues back into projects for the three coastal counties of Hancock, Harrison and Jackson.

The money is reported to be designated for educational signs at public access points, a permit monitoring program and to enhance a wetlands conservation study.

St. Clare faculty studies teaching curriculum

Sister Jane, principal, announced the teachers and administrators at St. Clare School will participate in a weekly program self-study called "The Master Teacher." During the 1990-91 school year, this comprehensive program will address many facets of master teaching. The areas of professional study will include results-oriented teaching techniques, professionalism, ethics, discipline, motivation and communication skills.

In addition, the professional competencies of student, staff and parent relationships as well as public relations will be addressed.

"Professional growth is a value that we at St. Clare School try to instill in our students and ourselves. The research being done in the field of education is giving teachers and administrators new information about how students learn, as well as how slow, average and gifted students can be taught most effectively.

"We would be remiss not to engage in a process through which we can expose ourselves to this information," said Sister Jane.

She said, "Our aim is to help our entire faculty develop a more complete understanding of how to motivate each individual child in our school and how to nurture each child more fully. Teachers and administrators will be engaged in this studies weekly throughout the entire year."

"The concerts are presented free of charge to the public. It is an evening set aside for the community to enjoy its city park, their neighbors and watch the mayor help fry the fish," said Mayor Edward Favre.

The final concert of the year will be Oct. 6 and will feature a German "Oom-Pa" band and a German food menu. For further information, call City Hall at 467-9092 or Bay Business Association, 467-8201.

Coast begins fifth decade

On Aug. 17, Coast Community College opened doors to its first class of students.

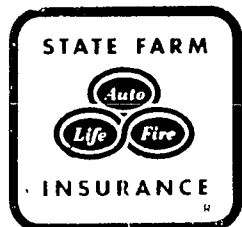

The college, which is located on Highway 90 in Bay St. Louis, was founded by the late Rev. Dr. Christ Frisbie, who was the Reverend of the Episcopal Church in the area.

The college started with a small campus in the outdoor area and has since grown to a large building.

The college has a cheerleading team, a basketball team, and a football team. The cheerleaders won the third and fourth place trophies at the state competition.

New personnel named at Hancock County schools

A special welcome was extended from superintendent Terrell Randolph to new personnel and those assigned to different locations in the Hancock County school system.

At Hancock North Central Elementary, new personnel include fifth grade teacher Stacey Shaw, kindergarten teacher Jean Wilson and Denise Wilkinson as assistant principal.

At Charles B. Murphy Elementary, a special welcome to new personnel as well as those who are changing positions: speech pathologist Brenda Bradley; sixth grade teacher Thad Williams; assistant teachers Alyson Bradley (kindergarten), Wendy Curet (first grade), Geraldine Foxworth (second grade) and Virginia Doby (Chapter I assistant).

Rose Acker will assume the position of coordinating assistant in the Chapter I Program, working with both Charles B. Murphy and Gulfview Elementary schools.

Newcomers to Gulfview Elementary include teacher assistants Gloria Garcia in kindergarten, Lillie Tzuanos in Chapter I, Patsy Williams in first grade and Sheryl Colson as secretary.

Transferring from Gulfview to the new high school are Vern Halferty, Sue Hatem, Francis Weiler and Brenda Scianna in junior high.

Other new faces include Glen Broussard in vocational agriculture; Jan Jarrell in vocational computer; Patrick Saucier in diversified technology; Ted Atwood in vocational industrial arts; Lloyd Wilson in special education; Kevin Byrd, Tina Ladner and Vicki Jennings in secondary education; Wendy Byrd in special education; and Alan Dedeaux and Fred Bilbo in secondary education and coaching.

New bus drivers include Oliver Dulworth, Vicky Hampton, Guy Graham, Belinda Evans, Amanda Lee and Sharon Burge.

"The new year is off to a fine beginning and we feel we have an excellent staff of certified and non-certified personnel to handle the needs of Hancock County students," Randolph said.

Back to school

Bay High students en route to their first orientation meeting returned to school on Monday Aug. 20. The present enrollment, grades seven through 12, is approximately 940 students.

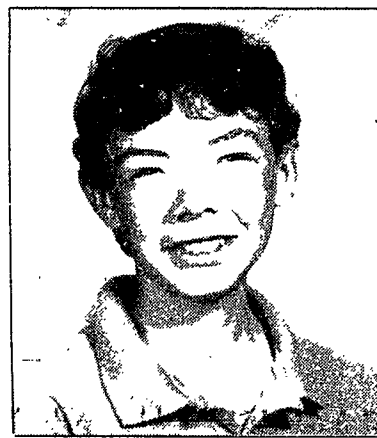

Baldree honored

The United States Achievement Academy announced James D. Baldree Jr. has been named a United States National Award winner in science.

The Academy recognizes less than 10 percent of all American high school students.

Baldree, who attends Bay Senior High School was nominated for this national award by Jon E. Blanchette, science teacher.

The Academy selects USAA winners upon the exclusive recommendation of teachers, coaches, counselors or other school sponsors and upon the standards of selection set forth by the Academy.

JAMES BALDREE

The criteria for selection are a student's academic performance, interest and aptitude, leadership qualities, responsibility, enthusiasm, motivation to learn and improve, citizenship, attitude and cooperative spirit, dependability and recommendation from a teacher or director.

Baldree is the son of James and Patricia Baldree of Pearlington. His grandparents are Ernest and Irene Cuevas of Bay St. Louis and George and Joyce Pullman of Pearlington.

Wilkinson named asst. principal at Hancock Elementary

As Hancock County Elementary School expands into the recently vacated HNC High School buildings, Denise Wilkinson has joined the administrative team as the elementary's newly appointed assistant principal.

"I am a strong supporter of Hancock County schools and I am extremely pleased about being promoted within the district. I hope this serves as encouragement for other educators in this district to continue with professional growth," Wilkinson said.

Wilkinson was promoted from teacher at Charles B. Murphy Elementary to assistant principal at HNC Elementary when the former assistant principal, Bettye McLeod, became principal.

Wilkinson has 16 years teaching experience, with 14 of these at Hancock County.

By serving on numerous committees and participating in various district programs, she has a proven record of outstanding work.

Kivlan continues graduate studies

Andrew P. Kivlan, a teacher and a coach at St. Stanislaus in Bay St. Louis, was among some 300 outstanding students enrolled in summer graduate studies at the University of Southern Mississippi.

The USM Summer Program for Graduate Education (SPGE) was established in 1978 for students working on master's and doctoral degrees.

Kivlan, who holds a bachelor's degree in education, was on the USM campus working on a master's degree in school counseling.

Kivlan was named Parish Track Coach of the Year in 1982 and District Football Coach of the Year in 1986 while at Buras High School in Louisiana.

Benvenutti named to Chancellor's List

Maria Anne Benvenutti from Bay St. Louis was named to the University of Mississippi Chancellor's Honor Roll for the summer semester.

RESOLUTION
There came on for consideration the matter of issuing special obligation, negotiable, interest-bearing combined water, gas and sewer system revenue bonds of the City of Waveland, Mississippi, and after a discussion of the subject matter, Alderman Rappold offered and moved the adoption of the following resolution:

A RESOLUTION DECLARING THE INTENTION OF THE MAYOR AND BOARD OF ALDERMEN OF THE CITY OF Waveland, MISSISSIPPI, TO ISSUE COMBINED WATER, GAS AND SEWER SYSTEM REVENUE BONDS OF SAID MUNICIPALITY IN THE MAXIMUM PRINCIPAL AMOUNT OF ONE MILLION THREE HUNDRED FIFTY THOUSAND TWO HUNDRED DOLLARS ($1,350,200) TO RAISE MONEY FOR IMPROVEMENTS, REPAIRS AND EXTENSIONS TO ITS COMBINED WATER, GAS AND SEWER SYSTEM; CONSISTING PRIMARILY OF IMPROVEMENTS AND EXTENSIONS TO THE WATERWORKS AND WATER SUPPLY FACILITIES AND THE SEWER FACILITIES, AND THE CONSTRUCTION OF A NEW WATER WELL.

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Board of Aldermen of the City of Waveland, Mississippi (the "Governing Body" of the "Municipality"), acting for and on behalf of the Municipality, hereby finds, determines, adjudicates and declares as follows:

1. The waterworks, water supply, gas transmission, gas distribution facilities, sewerage and sewage disposal facilities of the Municipality shall be combined and operated as a combined system known as the combined water, gas and sewer system of the Municipality (the "System").

2. It is necessary and advisable and in the best interest of the Municipality and its inhabitants to issue combined water, gas and sewer system revenue bonds of the Municipality in the maximum principal amount of One Million Three Hundred Fifty Thousand Two Hundred Dollars ($1,350,200) to raise money for improvements, repairs and extensions to the System, consisting primarily of improvements and extensions to the waterworks and water supply facilities and the sewer facilities, and the construction of a new water well, for which purpose there are no other available funds on hand.

3. The Governing Body has employed Eaton & Associates/Associate Engineer Aford Engineering, Jackson, Mississippi, a competent engineering firm, to study the System, determine the nature and extent of the improvements, repairs and extensions necessary thereto, and make an estimate of the cost thereof.

4. Said engineers have determined the nature and extent of the necessary improvements, repairs and extensions to the System and have made an estimate of the cost thereof, which estimate is the approximate amount of One Million Three Hundred Fifty Thousand Two Hundred Dollars ($1,350,200).

5. Said improvements, repairs and extensions are necessary, are economically feasible and would be in the public interest and of benefit to the Municipality, and the findings of said engineers are hereby adopted, including the estimate of the costs of said improvements, repairs and extensions.
